Events 2012–2013

Welcome to BILD's programme of events running from September 2012 to July 2013.

Our events are designed to help people and organisations gain the right knowledge so they can support people with learning disabilities in a person centred way.

Why join us?

- They cover different levels of knowledge – from introductory to advanced
- They help raise your understanding of current good practice
- They provide practical tools and techniques to use in the workplace
- They provide networking opportunities
- All events are designed and delivered by experts in their relevant fields
- They help delegates to reflect on their practice
- All our events are Continuous Professional Development certificated and contribute toward your own personal growth and development
- Held regionally in 3 easy accessible locations
- A comprehensive pack of materials are given to every delegate
- They are a cost effective way for organisations to develop the knowledge of employees
- Many are mapped to the knowledge requirements for the level 2 and 3 diploma in health and social care and level 2 and 3 qualifications in supporting individuals with learning disabilities

Our services are here to support your development

BILD Consultancy – we can help you

We believe the best way to deliver support is to focus on each individual and use person centred approaches. Getting this right isn't always easy and being able to get external help and expertise can sometimes make a big difference.

We can help you. Work with BILD and you can benefit from the expertise an independent organisation with a reputation based on 40 years' experience can bring. We can help review the quality of your support, and do this in partnership with people with learning disabilities and family carers. We can help develop your workforce and the leaders within your organisation, and we offer specialist support in a wide range of areas.

BILD Qualifications – supporting your success

Taking a health and social care qualification helps your knowledge and skills and provides national recognition for your work. A qualified workforce can help an organisation improve the support it offers to people with learning disabilities, and is evidence to commissioners and inspectors of the quality of your support.

BILD has more than ten years' experience of supporting learning disability and advocacy workers.

Training in your workplace – just as you want it

BILD Training offers you high quality and practical training programmes tailored to your needs, delivered in your workplace by experts in the field of learning disabilities.

Training larger groups can offer better value to a tight budget, help staff develop their skills in supporting people with learning disabilities, and contribute to their continuous professional development.

BILD Events – great learning opportunities

Attending our conferences means you get to hear from great speakers, participate in workshops that share knowledge and experience, and gain credits towards your continuous professional development.

Our events bring experienced trainers and the people providing support together, to pass on ideas about new approaches and explore good practice.

Books and Journals that support your professional development

BILD is the UK's leading publisher of books and journals that develop policy and improve practice for those supporting people with a learning disability. Written by experts, some books aim to help people plan services and deliver support in person centred ways, others campaign to improve rights and respect for people with learning disabilities. BILD's journals are among the most respected in their field.

Let us help keep you up to date – join BILD

BILD membership will keep you informed about the latest developments in learning disabilities and can show – whether an individual or an organisation – that you value your professional development.

If you would like to know more about any of our services call 01562 723010 or email enquiries@bild.org.uk or visit www.bild.org.uk
