BILD Code of Practice for minimising the use of restrictive physical interventions: planning, developing and delivering training

A guide for purchasers of training, training organisations and trainers

This edition of the Code of Practice is a significant revision that takes into account recent policy and research developments. It reflects the shift in emphasis to positive behaviour support and minimising the use of restrictive practices.

The Code is relevant to training providers, individual trainers as well as education, health and social care organisations that purchase training on minimising the use of restrictive practices, including the use of physical skills.

Fourth edition

ISBN 978 1 905218 32 5  A4 size  £20.00
ISBN 978 1 905218 33 2  A5 size  £18.00

Good Autism Practice (GAP)
This journal is dedicated to promoting good practice when supporting children and adults with autism and Asperger syndrome. Each journal includes articles that are written by practitioners, academics, parents and people with autism and that encourage good and innovative practice. The journal will be of interest to parents and practitioners in health, education and social services, as well as people who have autism.
GAP is published twice a year.

The SLD Experience
The SLD Experience is aimed at parents and practitioners working with and caring for children and young people with severe learning difficulties in mainstream and special schools. The SLD Experience is the only UK journal dedicated solely to promoting good practice with school pupils with severe learning difficulties.
The SLD Experience is published three times a year.

International Journal of Positive Behavioural Support
The International Journal of Positive Behavioural Support is a peer-reviewed journal that aims to:
• define and promote good practice in relation to the use of positive behaviour support (PBS)
• add to the evidence base regarding such interventions
• demonstrate how PBS interventions can support people to change their challenging behaviours and improve their quality of life
• bridge the gap between academic research and service practice
IJPBS is published twice a year.

To subscribe to any of these journals, go to www.bild.org.uk/journals

Get free online journals as part of BILD membership
As part of their BILD membership, individuals receive a free online journal subscription to either the British Journal of Learning Disabilities (BJLD) or the Journal of Applied Research into Intellectual Disabilities (JARID). Organisations get online access to both journals when they join BILD.
This gives online access to copies going back 40 years for BJLD and 25 years for JARID, as well as offering online search facilities and email notifications when new editions appear online.
BJLD, published four times a year, is an international peer-reviewed journal which aims to be the leading inter-disciplinary journal in the learning disability field.
JARID, published six times a year, is an international, peer-reviewed journal which draws together findings derived from original applied research in intellectual disabilities.
For more information about BILD membership, or to join online, go to www.bild.org.uk/join or call us on 0121 415 6983.

The UK’s widest range of positive behaviour support resources to support you in your work

BILD’s long experience in developing positive behaviour support approaches can help organisations equip their staff with the training, skills and qualifications needed to provide the right support for people whose behaviour is described as challenging.

PBS training in the workplace

We offer positive behaviour support training tailored to the specific needs of your organisation and workforce, delivered by our experienced training consultants in your workplace.

Introduction – 1 day
We will help your staff develop an understanding of why people can display behaviour which challenges, the basic principles of Positive Behaviour Support, and how this approach can help improve outcomes and lifestyles.

Intermediate – 2 days
For staff who have developed an understanding of delivering Positive Behaviour Support and wish to develop their skills to become ‘champions’ in the workplace.

Advanced – 3 days
For staff who are already experienced in providing a positive behaviour approach and are keen to pass these skills on to the wider staff team.

Each programme is CPD certificated and will also give you an overview of the training and qualifications that can be used to accredit a positive support approach.

PBS Consultancy and PBS in schools and colleges

We can help review your organisation’s policies and procedures to ensure they are up to date with national policy and guidance, undertake an organisational behaviour audit and risk assessment, and support you to implement positive behaviour support across your organisation.

We also offer a specific behaviour support review for schools and colleges to help identify good practice and develop a plan of action to ensure that practice continues to keep pace with the evidence base, legislation and policy practice frameworks.

For more information about how BILD can support you, please contact Jackie Pountney on 0121 415 6970 or e-mail pbs@bild.org.uk
