

Winterbourne View Joint Improvement Programme

Chris Bull

What do we want to do?

- ✓ Fast and lasting change from childhood
- ✓ People get the care they want and need
- ✓ People and their families have a say
- ✓ We change attitudes and behaviour

How will we do this?

- Get people out of assessment and treatment centres
- Share what works well
- Support both health and social care to change
- Two year funding for a joint programme board
- Make sure we know that change is happening

Programme for change

“Health and care commissioners will:

- by 1 June 2013, working together and with service providers, people who use services and families review the care of all people in learning disability or autism inpatient beds and agree a personal care plan for each individual, based on their and their families’ needs and agreed outcomes;*
 - put these plans into action as soon as possible, so that all individuals receive personalised care and support in appropriate community settings no later than 1 June 2014;*
 - ensure that all individuals have the information, advice and advocacy support they need to understand and have the opportunity to express their views. This support will include self-advocacy and independent advocacy where appropriate for the person and their family.”*
-

What are we doing now?

- What does a good review look like
- What will good provision look like
- How can we let local areas know what they need to do
- How can we work together

Scope of reviews

- People with learning disability or autism who are placed in hospital in-patient beds (including enhanced, low and medium secure), assessment and treatment units or other specialist placements must be reviewed.
 - Know who people are, where they are placed and what they are in
 - Reviews must be developed on a joint basis across health and social care
-

Are the right questions being asked?

- Does this person have a good quality person-centred plan that has asked the right questions and had the person and their family at the centre of its development.
 - Was the review an on-going process conducted with the people concerned, their family carers and be based on a joint approach between health and social care?
 - Recognising that this a hospital and thus a short term service, is there an action plan in place and being actioned to support the person to move on to alternative services/supports in the future?
 - Depending on the above, what further work is required and over what timescale to ensure this?
-

Impact for commissioners

- Analyse outcomes of reviews
 - Understanding what led to these type of placements
 - Support future planning
-

Impact for commissioners

- Development of new services models and approaches
- Inclusion of advocacy services
- Using the Health and WellBeing Boards to challenge and change

What will we be doing next

- Sharing good practice
- Engaging with providers & advocacy organisations
- Working with commissioners across health & social care
- Help areas to analyse & use information
- Bespoke support to localities and regions

Further information

- For good practice examples and queries:
 - Chris.Bull@local.gov.uk
 - For more information and review document
 - www.local.gov.uk/adultsocialcare
-