

The Centre for the Advancement of PBS at BILD – The UK’s leading resource for Positive Behaviour Support

BILD’s PBS Mission is to support individual, organisational and workforce development and competence through the identification, dissemination and promotion of good practice.

The Centre for the Advancement of PBS (CAPBS) provides resources, learning and development programmes, and expert guidance so that research can be translated directly in practice that actually improves the quality of people’s lives. CAPBS workforce development programmes are highly regarded both in the UK and internationally.

CAPBS aims to make PBS accessible to everyone and increase levels of expertise within the sector by facilitating communities of practice and professional networks that support CPD and provide expert and peer support. All of CAPBS’ work is underpinned by these key messages. www.bild.org.uk/capbs CAPBS work is underpinned by a commitment to improving quality of life, through collaborative working, evidence based practice and person centred support. The Centre produces a range of PBS and Active Support resources, including video interviews with academics and expert practitioners, practice papers, as well as information for parents, families, supporters and accessible information for people with learning disabilities.

www.bild.org.uk/capbsresources

The CAPBS animation, ‘An introduction to PBS’ - watched over 35,000 times, and increasingly built into staff induction and development programmes

CAPBS Consultancy support

The Centre has a bank of qualified and experienced consultants to support and guide teams and organisations through PBS organisational and workforce development. Consultants work alongside organisations to ensure good PBS practice is not only sustained but continually developed.

The Centre has developed an evidence-based framework to support service and organisational reviews and evaluations, The CAPBS Workforce Development Framework, as well as The Five Signs of Good PBS.

Download both from:

www.bild.org.uk/capbsconsultancy

New CAPBS Coaches from Sunderland Care and Support

The UK leader in PBS training

CAPBS PBS training programmes are tried, tested, and delivered at levels to suit your workforce development needs, from Foundation through Practitioner, to the highly regarded CAPBS Coaches Programme which is now available with university accreditation for its workplace-based descriptive functional assessment module.

All programmes support staff to develop the skills and knowledge in the PBS Competence Framework developed by the PBS Academy.

CAPBS also provides a range of specialist training programmes to support the implementation of PBS approaches which can be delivered in the workplace.

“It’s so important to get the introduction of PBS right and the CAPBS Coaches Programme was so valuable to our organisational implementation of PBS. After their training, our Coaches went out and delivered a series of workshops to managers about PBS and what it meant for our organisation.”

Darren Sanders — National Learning and Development Manager, Mencap

www.bild.org.uk/capbstraining

CAPBS Coaches Network – sharing solutions to common problems

The CAPBS Coaches Network is a forum to discuss challenges and share good practice in implementing PBS.

Its members are those who have passed the CAPBS Coaches Programme, an intensive four day programme that gives Coaches the confidence and knowledge to become practice leaders and agents for positive change within their own organisations.

The Coaches come from a range of organisations and service types, so it makes sense to connect with other Coaches who have the same mission of improving the quality of life for adults and children through PBS.

www.bild.org.uk/capbscoachesnetwork

Above, a masterclass from Peter Baker, IJPBS joint editor at a Coaches Summit

Centre for the Advancement of PBS

Birmingham Research Park
97 Vincent Drive
Edgbaston
Birmingham B15 2SQ
0121 415 6970
capbs@bild.org.uk

www.bild.org.uk/capbs