

Contents

Editorial	2
Why supporting self-awareness for autistic people is of mutual benefit, Sue Hatton and Pamela Hirsch	6
Quiet voices: using creative research methods to increase participation and the voice of learners often overlooked, Helen Evans	13
To what extent does the ‘Double Empathy Problem’ impact on the assessment and grading of autistic students’ creative writing? Isabelle Finn-Kelcey	24
An evaluation of sensory diets and the impact on sensory processing, engagement and the wellbeing of autistic children, Bethany Barnsley and Lucy Bates	38
An evaluation of a tool, based on spoon theory, to promote self-regulation and avoidance of burnout in autistic children and young people, Karen McGuinness	59
Misdiagnoses and late diagnosis of autism in adulthood: Ruth’s reflections with her therapist, Ruth and Elin	73
An evaluation of Chinese Orff Music Therapy for children with autism in China, Wolfgang Mastnak and Rong Guo	78
The pros and cons of being an autistic parent, Shona Murphy	87
Book reviews	97
Accredited courses in autism	100
Notes for contributors	107