learning disability community of practice

ABOUT YOUR COMMUNITY

Everyone in this group, including YOU, are participants in a community committed to positive change. Your work is vital in supporting people with learning disabilities and autistic people, and supporting professionals and families to share learning to improve the support people receive. Our aim is to have a positive impact on quality of life for the individual, and all the people who support them. As such, our community is an inclusive place for support, information, answers and solutions.

THE RULES OF ENGAGEMENT...

By adding to the community you can actively support the process of positive change. You can do this by sharing ideas, experiences and resources, and by asking questions.

Exchanges are more productive when collaborative and open. Through dialogue and debate with a diverse group, better understandings can be arrived at.

We're excited about the potential of this community to develop, encourage and implement positive change. Are you?

A community convened to create positive change, share best practice and uphold human rights is characterised by respect, tolerance, understanding and empathy.

We're about community over competition, supporting one another rather than promoting ourselves. As such, advertisement and promotion of services and products are not appropriate.
